THE ARCTIC OUTLETS.

What Would Happen if These Ice Channels Were Closed?

It is well that there are the water gaps between the continents whose headlands form the boundaries of the Arctic ocean. Through Bering strait, Baffin's bay and the huge opening between Greenland and western Europe thousands of cubic miles of ice are annually discharged which if undocked would long ago have so accumulated as to have impelled cataclysms that would probably have so swept life from the earth that the evolution of man would have been deferred indefinitely into the far future centuries. Both poles are located with singular adaptation to ease off the otherwise inevitably too great accumulation of local avoidrupois, which would as surely change the earth's center of gravity as would the hanging of an immense weight at some local point on the periphery of a balance wheel. It is to this good fortune in present polar locations that the world owes its immunity of cataclysmal inundations and reorganizations which otherwise must have laid down other strata to the mausoleums that mark the resting places of the forms that once sported beneath us.

An Old Virginia Law.

A law passed by the grand assembly held at James City, Va., in March 1662, was designed for the purpose of trying to prevent women from talking to excess. The law read: "Whereas many babbling women slander and scandalize their neighbors, for which their poor husbands are often involved in chargeable and vexatious suits and cast in great damages, be it therefore enacted that in actions of slander, occasioned by the wife, after judgment passed for the damages, the woman shall be punished by ducking; and if the slander be so enormous as to be adjudged at greater damages than 500 pounds of tobacco, then the woman to suffer a ducking for each 500 pounds of tobacco adjudged against the husband, if he refuses to pay the tobacco."

A Vigorous Indictment.

The dangers of municipal ownership are well known. Trading with the public credit, whether state or municipal, must of necessity lead to stupendous financial liabilities, add to the burden of the taxes, weaken municipal credit, bring about inequality of taxation, interfere with the natural laws of trade, check industrial and scientific progress, stop invention, discourage individual effort, destroy foreign trade, establish an army of officials, breed corruption, create an aristocracy of labor, demoralize the voter and ultimately make socialistic communities of towns and cities.—St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette.

In a Nutsell.

The late Marshall Field, Chicago's greatest merchant, put the matter in a nutsell when he said to a delegation that had come to enlist his support of the plan to municipalize the street railways of Chicago:

"I shall be glad to concede that your plan is the serious, dignified, business-like remedy for existing evils that you represent it to be when you have demonstrated to me the ability of the city of Chicago to operate a decent elevator service in the city hall."
